Looking for a builder who supervises each phase of construction from design to warranty service after the sale?

Since 1979, Ron Ray has strived to maintain a growth in the building industry that does not compromise the superior value of the customer's investment. Each home is designed for maximum livability, with currently styles and low maintenance in mind. Open floor plans and plenty of windows help bring in natural light. Comfort and convenience coupled with quality construction are standards. The mark of quality and distinction is revealed in every Downeast Home.

Ron is a graduate of Husson College of Bangor, Maine. He is an active member of the Builders Association of Metro Augusta, having served as secretary and director; as well as a past director of the Homebuilders of Georgia.

Good customer relations and outstanding service are some of his many attributes. His personal integrity secures the foundation of Downeast Homebuilders, Inc. Just ask anyone who lives in a Downeast Home!
